

<< return to search

By Lisa Fine

Need a printed t-shirt?

A-Dog Designs is a student run business through the career center at Yorktown High School. The group offers high-quality clothing — from t-shirts to sweatshirts and sweatpants in every size — and will custom design and print them for any occasion or business. Info: (914) 243-8038 and yhsadog@yahoo.com.

Sort & Settle

In response to the dramatic growth of New York's senior population, and the related burden on "baby boomers" to care for their parents, a new company is assisting senior citizens with the emotional and physical aspects of downsizing and relocation. Lynda Crowley of Goldens Bridge and Whitney DiMinno of Brewster are the owners of Sort & Settle, LLC. They provide a wide range of senior moving and management services within Westchester, Putnam, and Dutchess counties and Fairfield County, CT. Info: (914) 232-8789 and www.sortnsettle.com.

Create, Duplicate and Deliver

PostNet has recently opened in the Somers Commons Shopping Center at 80 Route 6 in Baldwin Place. Their services include full- & self-serve copying, printing, binding, signs & banners, mailing, packaging, mailbox rentals, office supplies and more. Info: (914) 519-6066.

Seminar for Non-Profits

The 2nd Annual Not-for-Profit Educational Leadership Summit – Building Corporate Strategies and Navigating Organizations Through a Difficult Economic Climate – will be held on Friday, June 13 at the Westchester Marriott Hotel in Tarrytown. Presented by Entergy and the Hospitality Resource Group, this day-long seminar will provide leaders in the not-for-profit sector with the tools and strategies commonly utilized in the corporate sector. In this challenging economic climate, these strategies are even more essential for not-for-profit organizations to further advance their goals and objectives. Reservations are required and organizations may send up to three people. Info: (914) 761-7111 or www.HRGinc.net.

To submit information for The Fine Print, please send emails to thefineprintny@verizon.net, call (914) 243-9761 or go to LISAFINECOMMUNICATIONS.com. Lisa Fine is owner of LF Communications, Inc. some of whose clients may be mentioned on occasion.